

Penn State Basketball
Student-Athlete Postgame Press Conference
vs. Loyola – November 10, 2022

Kebba Njie | F | Fr.

Q: Kebba, coming off the bench, how has that worked for you? I am sure it's something you haven't done a lot of that in your life, and some of the early foul trouble that you had, how are you kind of adjusting to the physicality of the game at this level?

A: Coming off the bench, it doesn't matter if I start or come off the bench, I'm just always ready to go. And then with the fouls, I have to be smart on how to use my body. Especially at this level, they're going to call the easy fouls but sometimes they're going to let things go. Just in my experience playing, I have to keep playing knowing what the refs like to blow their whistle on.

Q: Kebba, you added a lot of strength before you got to campus, how are you, kind of, seeing that play off functionally for you and now that you're playing competitive games, how are you using that to your advantage?

A: Yeah, I mean, I have added a lot of strength over the summer and the preseason, ever since I got here at Penn State. The strength has helped me to be more physically dominant on the court. But now, I have to control that strength so I don't get those easy fouls in the beginning.
