

NCAA Division I Women's All-America Teams Announced by NSCAA

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (December 2, 2016) – The National Soccer Coaches Association of America announced on Friday the 2016 NSCAA NCAA Division I Women's All-America Teams.

West Virginia defender Kadeisha Buchanan (Brampton, Ont.) and Florida forward Savannah Jordan (Fayetteville, Ga.) each earn All-America honors for a fourth straight year, while Wisconsin midfielder Rose Lavelle (Cincinnati, Ohio) was selected for a third consecutive season.

This year's NSCAA NCAA Division I Women's All-America Teams feature a total of 40 players, who will be formally acknowledged for their accomplishments at the NSCAA All-America Luncheon on January 14, 2017 at the Los Angeles Convention Center in conjunction with the 2017 NSCAA Convention.

In addition to today's All-America Teams announcement, the 2016 NSCAA NCAA Division I Women's All-Region Teams have been posted in the "Awards Central" section of NSCAA.com.
