NUMEROUS HUSKERS RECEIVE PRESEASON RECOGNITION

Four Huskers were named to the preseason position rankings announced by Extra Innings. Billie Andrews leads the Huskers on both the Extra Elite 100 and Shortstop lists while Courtney Wallace, Mya Felder and Sydney Gray were named to their respective lists as well.

Andrews was named No. 46 in the Extra Elite 100 list and ranked No. 8 on the list of preseason shortstops. The junior started every game at the position during the 2022 season. Andrews earned All-Region and All-Big Ten honors after leading the Huskers in runs (54), home runs (20) and RBIs (51) last season.

A two-time All-Region selection, Wallace earned a No. 11 ranking as a two-way player. The senior compiled a 17-5 record during the 2022 season, appearing in the circle 34 times for the Big Red. Wallace received the inaugural Rawlings/Gold Glove Award after finishing the year with a perfect fielding percentage. On offense, Wallace tallied a .284 batting average.

Gray was ranked No. 14 on the third base preseason list. The junior started every game of the 2022 season at the position. At the plate, Gray tallied a .313 batting average and a .549 slugging percentage. The Tucson, Ariz., native, notched 57 hits including eight doubles and 11 home runs.

An All-Big Ten selection, Felder earned a spot at No. 16 on the first base preseason list. The senior led the Huskers on offense last season, finishing with a .373 batting average. Felder compiled 60 hits including nine doubles and four home runs. The Fresno, Calif., native, started 50 games at first base during the 2022 season and finished with a .991 fielding percentage.

BILLIE ANDREWS HIGHLIGHTS PRESEASON HONORS

Ahead of the 2023 season, Billie Andrews received recognition from multiple organizations. D1 Softball listed Andrews at No. 6 on Top 10 shortstops as well as No. 58 on their Top 100 list.

The sophomore also received honors from Softball America, who named Andrews No. 45 on its Preseason Top 100 list as well as a preseason third-team All-American as an at-large selection.

Andrews earned a spot on the Extra Innings Extra Elite 100 at the No. 46 spot. The native of Gretna, Neb., was also listed at No. 8 on the Extra Innings preseason shortstops list earlier this month.

Andrews is coming off of a record-breaking sophomore season in 2022. The second-team All-Big Ten selection recorded 20 home runs during the year, setting a sophomore school record and finishing the season ranked 13th in the NCAA. Andrews was named an NFCA third-team All-Midwest Region selection and was voted the Nebraska Female Athlete of the Year. The Gretna, Neb., native finished the 2022 campaign with a .330 batting average which included 59 hits and 51 RBIs. Andrews started every game at shortstop for the Huskers and finished the year with a .925 fielding percentage helping Nebraska to its first Big Ten Tournament title.

The junior was also a leader in the classroom, claiming CoSIDA Academic All-District first team honors. Andrews was named a Big Ten Distinguished Scholar and was an Academic All-Big Ten honoree.

KATELYN CANEDA EARNS NATIONAL RECOGNITION AS A FRESHMAN TO WATCH

Freshman Katelyn Caneda received recognition from D1Softball when she was named a Top 80 Freshmen Name to Know ahead of the 2023 season.

A native of Cerritos, Calif., Caneda was one of six infielders from the Big Ten Conference to be named to the list. Caneda was a standout at second base for Cerritos High School. The freshman led her team to three CIF Southern Section Division 3 Semifinals. Caneda also earned 605 First-Team All-League honors.

The freshman from Cerritos, Calif., played club all for the Corona Angels under coach Marty Tyson alongside teammate Dakota Carter. Husker All-Americans Taylor Edwards, Tatum Edwards and Cam Ybarra also played for the Angels under Tyson.

WALLACE RETURNS FOR FIFTH YEAR

The All-Region right-handed pitcher announced during the summer that she will use her final year of eligibility, which the NCAA granted to student-athletes due to COVID-19 interruptions.

Wallace earned NFCA Third-Team All-Midwest Region accolades in 2022, as well as Big Ten All-Defensive Team honors. Wallace was honored with the Rawlings Gold Glove Award after finishing the season with 1.00 fielding percentage.

The two-time All-Region selection held a 3.12 ERA and a 17-8 record through 148 innings during the 2022 season. She led the Huskers with four saves. On offense, Wallace hit .284 with 27 hits and eight RBIs.

2023 SQUAD LOOKS TO CONTINUE 2022 OFFENSIVE MOMENTUM

The 2022 Huskers made their mark on history, setting numerous offensive season records. The Big Red smashed 76 home runs over the season, marking the most by a Nebraska squad, and breaking the previous record of 73 set in 2014. Along with that, the team slugging percentage was .523, shattering the previous record (.505) set in 2015.

Last year's team also made its mark on multiple other categories in the Nebraska record book including total extra-base hits (171, second), batting average (.310, third), runs scored (342, fourth), RBIs (317, fourth) and doubles (85, fifth).

Using the success of 2022 as momentum for 2023, the Huskers return four of their top five hitters from last season with Mya Felder, Abbie Squier, Billie Andrews and Sydney Gray all playing a big role on this year's team.

BOWLIN STADIUM

The 2023 season marks the 22nd season Nebraska has called Bowlin Stadium home. The stadium's inaugural season was in 2002.

One of the top facilities in the country, Bowlin Stadium features seating for 2,530 fans, an underground system that heats the field, a large video board, FieldTurf and a padded wall. Just past the right field fence is the Alex Gordon Training Complex, a spacious indoor facility that is large enough for Nebraska to take live batting practice inside the complex. The clubhouse features a locker room, players' lounge, training room and coaches' offices.

Nebraska has won nearly 70 percent of its games at Bowlin Stadium. The Huskers have hosted four NCAA Regionals at Bowlin Stadium and ranked in the top 25 nationally in attendance 14 times, including four seasons ranked in the top 10.
