A Letter from the President

Dear Monarch Nation:

Welcome to Kornblau Field at S.B. Ballard Stadium! I am so pleased you are joining us for Old Dominion University's 12th football season and the second in our expanded and renovated stadium, which greatly upgraded the fan experience.

On behalf of Monarchs, both near and far, we are so incredibly proud of the significant accomplishments of our athletic programs during the prior season, despite all of the challenges associated with the global health pandemic. Both our men's baseball and women's tennis teams won their first Conference USA titles. Our student-athletes also excelled in the classroom, recording a composite 3.31 grade point average in the spring, the highest in the University's history.

Teamwork is critical in athletics and equally critical to fulfilling our worthwhile mission as a public research university. We are focused on access and opportunity, as well as contributing in profound ways to our region, the Commonwealth of Virginia, the nation, and the world. From our outstanding faculty delivering high-quality academic programs to leading cutting-edge research initiatives, we are a forward-focused institution driven by excellence, accountability, transparency, and being student-centered in everything we do. Our talented students are making the most of their Monarch experience, and our impressive graduates are leaving this campus prepared to make a difference for their families, communities, and professions as strong citizen leaders!

As a Monarch, we appreciate your interest and support of our world-class institution. You are an important part of what makes our campus community such a special place! Enjoy the game, and GO MONARCHS!

With Monarch Pride,

Brian O. Hemphill, Ph.D.

RICKY RAHNE

First Season/Second Overall

Cornell, 2002

Ricky Rahne was hired as the second head football coach in Old Dominion history on December 9, 2019.

Rahne was the offensive coordinator at Penn State for two seasons and on the Nittany Lions coaching staff for six years.

"I am happy to welcome Ricky Rahne to the Monarch community," ODU President John R. Broderick said. "We are fortunate to have him, and I look forward to the future. With his strong track record of building offensive success and turning around programs, he is the right person to lead our football team into 2020 and beyond."

"We were fortunate to attract a deep and talented pool of candidates from many of the nation's elite college football programs. We went into the search process targeting a coach with a proven track record of success in transforming programs into sustained championship caliber programs. We wanted a dynamic, high energy coach who could relate to today's student-athlete while also serving as an outstanding role model. Fortunately for ODU, our student-athletes, and our community we have exactly what we were seeking in Ricky Rahne, a seasoned assistant head coach and Big 10 Offensive Coordinator who brings the blueprints for success on how to rebuild an FBS football program into a sustained winner given his recent experiences at both Vanderbilt and Penn State," Selig said. "Consistent themes emerged throughout the search process pertaining to Coach Rahne such as extremely intelligent, amazing work ethic, tenacious recruiter, family man, detail oriented, and proven leader."

"The elements for a successful football program are firmly in place. We have a new state-of-the-art stadium. We have a comprehensive practice complex and training facility. We have a vibrant and diverse University. We have a rabid fan base hungry for a winner. And now we have a hard charging, energetic coach poised and positioned to help us reach our potential and transform ODU into the nationally prominent program we all aspire to embrace."

For the past nine years, Rahne (pronounced ronnie) has developed an increasing national profile as a key component of Coach James Franklin's staff at both Penn State and Vanderbilt. The coaching staff has guided those teams to bowl games in each of the nine years and have won nine or more games in six of the last eight seasons.

"First, I love Ricky and his family. This is a bittersweet moment for our program. I am so incredibly proud of Ricky and I am super excited for him, his family and Old Dominion," Penn State head coach James Franklin said. "I am forever indebted to Ricky for his loyalty and drive in helping us succeed at Vanderbilt and Penn State. Ricky is a rising star in the industry and is built for this opportunity. He is a smart, open-minded and talented coach. His humble leadership style will resonate well with Old Dominion's leadership and players. I look forward to following his program at Old Dominion!"

"I want to thank President John Broderick for his involvement throughout the search process and his continued overall support for ODU athletics. He was a tremendous asset during the search process meeting at length with each of the final candidates and helping them understand the culture of ODU," Selig said. "Additionally, I would like to thank Senior Associate Athletic Director Bruce Stewart for his leadership role throughout the last week as we examined dozens of potential candidates. Bruce was a huge asset and worked tirelessly throughout the process helping to ensure a successful search."

Rahne has spent six seasons at Penn State, including the last two as offensive coordinator. Despite having a new starting quarterback, Rahne helped lead the Nittany Lion offense to 34 points per game, while six offensive players earned all-Big10 honors.

Known as a terrific offensive mind that can adjust to his personnel, Rahne demonstrated that again in 2019. Despite the loss of the No. 2 overall pick in the 2018 NFL Draft (Saquon Barkley), Penn State rushed for the most yards per game in the last 10 years at 204.9. PSU had nine players earn all-conference accolades, and the Nittany Lions led the Big10 with 42 red zone touchdowns, good for 16th in FBS.

Rahne was the quarterbacks coach in four of his six seasons at Penn State, as both of the quarterbacks he worked with were drafted into the NFL. In 2015, Christian Hackenberg (Jets, 2016) became the all-time leader in career yards passing with 8,457 yards. Three years later, Rahne guided Trace McSorley (Ravens, 2019) past that mark in 2018 with 9,899 yards. He also coached the tight ends in 2016 and 2017, guiding Mike Gesicki who was drafted by the Miami Dolphins.

Penn State played in a bowl game in every year Rahne was there, including a 2016 Big10 Championship and 2017 PlayStation Fiesta Bowl win over Washington. In that time, Penn State had four-straight seasons of at least nine wins, and the Nittany Lions are one of five teams to rank in the Top-15 of the College Football Playoff final rankings in each of the last four years.

Prior to joining Penn State, Rahne was the quarterbacks coach at Vanderbilt for three years.

Prior to Rahne's time at Vanderbilt, the program had been to four bowl games in 121 years of football, none in consecutive seasons. The Commodores were ranked in the Top-25 in the final polls in 2012 and 2013 marking the first time they were ranked in back-to-back seasons in program history.

He spent five years at Kansas State, starting as an offensive graduate assistant before coaching the running backs and tight ends. He helped the Wildcats to two bowl appearances.

Rahne started his coaching career on the defensive side at Holy Cross coaching the defensive line. The following year he coached the running backs at his alma mater, Cornell.

He was a three-year starter at quarterback at Cornell, and graduated as the Big Red's all-time leader in completions (678), passing yards (7,710), touchdown passes (54) and total offense (7,994). He was inducted into the Cornell Hall of Fame in 2014.

Rahne and his wife, Jennifer, have two sons, Ryder and Jake.

Game Notes

- For the first time in school history, ODU defeated Middle Tennessee, knocking off the Blue Raiders 24-17 in Murfreesboro last Saturday. Charlotte lost to Marshall, 49-28. The winner on Saturday will be bowl eligible with a 6-6 overall record.

- Blake Watson saw his streak of five-straight 100-yard rushing games come to an end, but he scored the eventual game-winning touchdown on a four-yard pass from Hayden Wolff. Watson carried 18 times for 57 yards on the day.

- Ali Jennings caught four passes for 146, including receptions of 43 and 60 yards. His shortest catch went for 19 yards.

- R'Tarriun Johnson, Jason Henderson and Terry Jones each had nine tackles, while Joe Joe Headen had three tackles and an interception.

Young Closing in on Record

Sixth-year senior linebacker Jordan Young had eight tackles in the win at Middle Tennessee. Young has continued his steady climb on the ODU career tackle charts, as he passed TJ Ricks to move into second at MTSU.

With the regular season finale against Charlotte remaining, several things are at stake besides the record for Young.

Young's single-season high for tackles was 86 in 2019. He needs six tackles to surpasses that.

Young has never led ODU in tackles. He's finished second twice and third as a sophomore in 2018. He currently has a 12 tackle lead on second place Ryan Henry.

ODU Career Tackles Leaders

1.	Craig Wilkins	340	2009-12
2.	Jordan Young	328	2017-21
3.	TJ Ricks	323	2013-16

Sixth-year seniors Isaac Weaver and Jordan Young have been starters from day one in their ODU careers. Saturday will be their 47th career start, one shy of the record held by Craig Wilkins and Oshane Ximines.

Watson Closes in on 1,000

ODU running back had his streak of five-straight 100-yard rushing games snapped in the win at Middle Tennessee. Watson rushed 18 times for 57 yards, but did catch a four-yard touchdown pass. A first for the former ODU wide receiver.

Watson is 17th in the country with 103.2 yards per game and 41st in the country with 929 yards. Watson missed two games earlier in the season with an injury.

In seven league games, Watson is second only to UAB's DeWayne McBride in rushing yards

Watson would be the second Monarch to record a 1,000-yard rushing season, joining ODU's all-time leading rusher Ray Lawry, who did it twice. Lawry's freshman season in 2014 is the third highest single-season rushing total. Watson is 18 yards away from surpassing Lawry's total from that season.

ODU Single-Season Rushing Yards

Senior Sendoff

ODU will honor 12 seniors prior to Saturday's game. Below is a brief snapshot of each senior. Senior Day ceremonies will begin at 1:35 on Saturday.

Jordan Young - LB - Coatesville, Pa.

Young has already graduated with his degree in sport management and will graduate with his master's degree in sport management this December. He leads ODU with 81 tackles this season and is 13 tackles shy of becoming ODU's all-time leading tackler.

Stone Smartt - WR - Sacramento, Calif.

Smartt was ODU's quarterback for much of 2019 before moving to wide receiver during fall camp this season. He was coming into his own at WR before an injury knocked him out of action for several weeks. He has 12 receptions for 117 yards this season.

Will Brocchini - CB - Sacramento, Calif.

Brocchini has played in six games this season at corner, making eight tackles with two pass breakups. In 2019, he played in seven games, recording 23 tackles, an interception and a pass breakup.

Nigel Fitzgerald - WR - Greensboro, N.C.

Fitzgerald battled injuries during his ODU career, including this season, playing just one game in 2021, making one catch. For his career, he caught 14 passes for 228 yards.

Harrell Blackmon - S - Jackson, Miss.

Blackmon has recorded 46 tackles in 11 games at safety this season and has 88 tackles in his two-year ODU career. He notched his first career interception in 2019 against WKU.

Roger Cray - CB - Lake City, Fla.

A graduate transfer from WKU, Cray was the most experienced transfer ODU brought in, having played four years for the Hilltoppers. Cray's veteran leadership has been valuable for ODU. He has recorded 30 tackles, one interception and a team-high nine pass breakups. He has also returned 10 punts for 97 yards.

Joe Joe Headen - S - Harrisburg, Pa

One of three sixth year players for the Monarchs, Headen has already earned his degree in finance and is working towards his master's in public administration. He intercepted his first pass of the season in last week's week at MTSU, and the third of his career. His 21 pass breakups are the second most in ODU history.

Cory Jackson - DE - Jackson, Miss.

Mostly a special teams player in 2019, Jackson has come on in 2021, making six starts at defensive end. He has 23 tackles, three sacks and a forced fumble.

Estefano Feliciano Jr. - DE - Tampa, Fla.

Feliciano has played in 10 games in 2021 and has found his way in the defensive line rotation for the last half of the season. He has recorded five tackles and a QB hurry. In his ODU career, he has played in 19 games and made 12 tackles. He has also been an integral member of the kickoff return team.

Carson Ramos - DT - Loma Rica, Calif.

Ramos will graduate with a degree in management this fall. He has played in three games making one tackle, while being a key contributor on the kickoff return team. He returned a kickoff 11 yards last week at Middle Tennessee.

Isaac Weaver - OL - Marietta, Ga.

Weaver has started 46 career games on the offensive line, tied with Jordan Young for second most in school history. This year he has started games at left tackle, center and for the first time in his career, left guard. A three-time team captain, Weaver earned his biology degree and is working on his MBA.

Nick Rice - K - St. Petersburg, Fla.

ODU's all-time leader in field goals with 63, Rice kicked the game-winning field goal in ODU's 23-20 win over Louisiana Tech. In the win at FIU, he drilled a career long 50-yarder in the win over the Panthers. He is only the second Monarchs to score more than 300 points (302), joining former kicker Jarod Brown (388).

FOUR REMAINING STAFF MEMBERS FROM ODU'S FIRST FOOTBALL TEAM HAVE FOND MEMORIES

By Harry Minium

NORFOLK, Va. — Tristin Ianonne dubbed them “The Founders” shortly after he was named the Old Dominion football team’s assistant director of operations. And the nickname is apropos.

Bruce Stewart, Tim Kovacs, Daniel Cornier and Wendell Mitchem are all who remain from the staff from ODU’s first football team, which debuted on Sept. 5, 2009, with a 36-21 victory over Chowan.

They worked in temporary offices before the University built the L.R. Hill Sports Complex or renovated Foreman Field. There wasn’t even a football on campus for the press conference when ODU named Bobby Wilder its head coach.

One was hastily purchased at a local sporting goods store.

“The thing about what they did that is so awesome is that they didn’t have anything but a vision,” ODU coach Ricky Rahne said. “We already have couches in my office. We have equipment. We have practice fields”.

“They were starting from scratch. That had to be a unique experience.”

It was unique, and one in which they all played differing but important roles.

Hired in 2007, Stewart was the architect behind ODU’s football program. From providing the support infrastructure, capital construction, football scheduling to having major input on managing personnel and budget, Stewart called the shots.

ODU was the second startup football program for Stewart. The Columbus, Ohio native, who has a law degree and a Master’s in Sports Management from Ohio State, in addition to an undergraduate degree in Psychology from Morehouse College, was vital in guiding Coastal Carolina’s football program successfully off the ground.

“In my field of work I use all three of my degrees on a daily basis,” Stewart said. “They have served me well throughout my professional career.”

In Stewart’s four seasons at Coastal, the Chanticleers were 6-5, 10-1, 9-2 and 9-3.

His expertise in scheduling afforded both schools the opportunity for early success. The Monarchs spent their first two seasons as a Football Championship Subdivision independent and for every VMI, Cal Poly and William & Mary on the schedule, there was a modest sprinkling of Division II and non-scholarship Division I schools.

That allowed ODU to go 9-2 and 8-3 in its first two seasons. Both programs qualified for the FCS playoffs in their third seasons, and met in the FCS playoff second round in 2011. ODU won that game and finished sixth in the national polls.

Tim Kovacs

Wendell Mitchem

Stewart's scheduling mastery continued when ODU moved up to the Football Bowl Subdivision. The Monarchs have hosted Virginia Tech, North Carolina and N. C. State and will welcome Wake Forest, Virginia, Virginia Tech and Army to Norfolk in the future. No Group of 5 program has had the kind of success scheduling home games against Power 5 schools as has ODU.

Stewart's responsibilities have grown in the last 14 years. He was recently named deputy athletic director and chief operating officer and has added men's basketball to his highly competitive men's and women's tennis programs to the sports he oversees.

Cornier, Kovacs and Mitchem were all ODU students who began work as unpaid student assistants.

Mitchem's father called a friend at ODU who gave Wilder a recommendation. Although he had no experience doing video, Mitchem was assigned to work with the video staff.

"I had no idea what I was doing," he said. But he quickly learned on the job and is now ODU's football video coordinator.

Cornier was a student manager for the baseball team who, when he volunteered to help the Monarch football program, was tasked by Wilder to work on the video crew.

But the first time he saw a machine known as a scissor lift, which lifts videographers 30 or so feet above the practice field to take video, he quickly realized he'd much rather hand out gear and repair helmets than challenge his fear of heights.

"I said, nope, I'm not doing that," Cornier said. "I'll work in the equipment room."

He has worked well. He's now the Assistant Athletic Director for Equipment Operations.

Kovacs had the most indirect path to football. He went to a meeting called to promote the program's first signing class. He tagged along with a friend who wanted to try out for the team.

Bruce Stewart

"I had no interest in attending the event," he said. But his friend insisted that he go with him and when the event ended, he got to meet Andy Rondeau, then ODU's defensive coordinator.

Rondeau pointed at Kovacs and said rather sternly, "what can you do for me?"

"I said, 'why not, sure, I'd love to help out,' not realizing what I was doing," he said.

He began by entering recruiting data into a computer in makeshift offices in the Jim Jarrett Athletic Administration Building. "I think at the time there were five computers total," he said.

He worked four years as a volunteer, but after he graduated, he followed his parents, who moved to Birmingham, Alabama. "I was broke," he said.

He volunteered two years at UAB, where he finally started earning a salary, but came back when ODU joined Conference USA and Wilder offered him a paying job.

Kovacs worked his way up the ladder and is now the director of football operations. He and Iannone are Rahne's right-hand men. Kovacs handles travel, the budget, compliance and anything else Rahne asks him to do.

While the Monarchs are preparing to play Charlotte Saturday in their regular-season finale at S.B. Ballard Stadium, Kovacs is already working on spring practice and summer camps. He's also thinking ahead to a potential bowl bid, should ODU defeat the 49ers.

"They are among the most unselfish individuals in our department. I'm fortunate to have them as colleagues," Stewart said of the trio.

"They represent the kind of graduates that ODU develops and produces extremely well. You can always count on them to deliver

"What they do daily underscores their passion for this institution. It's not necessarily a job but a lifestyle for those guys. It's their beloved institution that has given an incredible amount to them through their matriculation.

"They are repaying it back two-fold. I promise you they aren't doing it for financial prosperity."

Such is the lot for most people in athletics. It's not unusual to work from early morning until late at night and to do so without glory or fanfare, just the satisfaction of knowing you're helping athletes succeed on the field and in the classroom.

It takes a special kind of person. The hours can be disruptive to family life and it's a grind physically and emotionally.

But everyone, from sports information directors to trainers to coaches, knew what they were getting into when they chose to work in athletics.

Cornier said that "we're like everybody else in this building. We're here all day.

"We stay as long as we need to stay to get the job done. Yes, we all work hard, but so does everybody else in this building. We all work our tails off."

So what do they do?

Mitchem has the coolest job, although one that has strict daily deadlines.

He has a staff of student assistants who man six or seven cameras during practice. After practice, he will cut up video so that coaches can see each play from five or six angles. He does so under deadline pressure because the staff is eager to watch video.

He and his staff will also prepare video of upcoming opponents for coaches to watch.

He edits video as games are being played and is so busy he often doesn't know who's winning or losing. A student assistant brings him an SD card of video from three cameras at the end of each quarter. He cuts it up, providing three angles on every play.

"Ten minutes after the game, the video is all ready for the coaches to watch," Mitchem said.

An hour after ODU's 24-17 victory at Middle Tennessee last weekend, as the charter flight made its way from Smyrna, Tennessee to Norfolk, coaches were watching video on iPads.

"Wendell and his staff do such a good job," Rahne said.

Cornier and his staff are responsible for providing players, coaches and staff with all of their equipment and attire, from helmets to jerseys to shoulder pads to shoes, kicking tees and everything you see on the sidelines during games.

ODU has more than 100 players he outfits and about 35 staff members whose game attire he launders and lays out for them each game. He and his staff set up and break down the practice field and locker room for each practice and game. He packs a 53-foot tractor trailer for every road game, which sometimes leaves 48 hours before a game to get to its destination on time.

And he tends to overpack.

"The feeling of being asked if we have something and then to realize we don't have it, that's the worst feeling in the world," he said.

ODU has four sets of jerseys and three sets of helmets per player and the players go through about 400 pairs of cleats. He and his staff also do laundry every day in three huge washing machines not only for the football team, but for 12 other sports.

Kovacs job is one that requires attention to detail. He makes sure meals are ordered for the team after practice and on the road. He schedules charter flights and hotels. He schedules Rahne's speaking engagements and he and Iannone often travel with him to events.

As players, coaches and staff line up to check in with TSA agents before a charter flight, he rattled off every name for 150 or so people in a traveling party. He makes sure everyone has a room key at the hotel, and then attends to setting up meals for the team.

"You're always planning ahead to make sure you have everything ready," Kovacs. "But the biggest thing is the budget. I deal with that on a daily basis to make sure we're being resourceful and being good stewards of our funds."

When Wilder resigned in 2019 and was replaced by Rahne, Kovacs was among the coaches and staff told they would be let go. But Rahne was quickly impressed enough to retain him.

"The thing that struck me about Tim was his institutional knowledge," Rahne said. "I think the thing that drew me to him most is that he was so loyal to coach Wilder while also being open to my way of doing things."

"He only speaks highly about the past, but he never fought me on anything I wanted to do to change things. And he had some ideas on how he thought we needed to change things as well."

"That kind of dichotomy was awesome. I don't want somebody who is going to say something just to save his hide. And he was never going to do something like that."

"He was very open about his appreciation of the past but also excited about the future."

Their favorite memory? For the three ODU grads, that's easy. That 36-21 victory over Chowan, when a sellout crowd of 19,872 jammed into old Foreman Field and cheered wildly.

As ODU alums, they appreciated more than newcomers what football meant. It changed the perception of the University. It gave students and alumni a sense of pride that had not previously existed.

ODU had long been stereotyped as a commuter school, even though nearly 5,000 students live on campus and thousands more live neighborhoods close to ODU.

Football gave people a chance to tailgate and alumni a homecoming game which gave them a reason to come back to campus.

"People were just so happy to have football," Cornier said. "There were so many people tailgating."

"There were people watching the game from the top of the parking garage. There may have been more people outside than stadium than were inside," Kovacs added.

Stewart said he has a different memory, one that is repeated three times each year – when ODU athletes received their degrees at graduation.

"That's why we're here," Stewart said.

ODU's 49-35 victory over Virginia Tech also ranks among their favorite memories. The largest crowd ODU ever hosted at Foreman Field, 20,532, cheered loudly and thousands rushed the field after the game.

But Mitchem said his proudest moment came after the game when Tech's video coordinator emailed him to let him know his students were completely professional.

No cheering is allowed in the press box and his guys suppressed their desire to cheer for their team even during a monumental upset.

"That really made me proud," he said.

However, the game that most sticks in their minds is ODU's 2016 victory over Eastern Michigan in the Bahamas Bowl. That's because it was extremely challenging to manage logistics in a foreign country.

Cornier said he began getting calls from equipment managers at other schools who'd been to the Bahamas even before it was announced ODU was headed to Nassau. You'd better start packing, he was told. Today.

Kovacs had to order passports for staff and players, line up a charter flight and take care of logistics on an island where transportation and other resources can be difficult to arrange.

Cornier and his staff had less than a week to pack two shipping containers with equipment watch as they left on a tractor trailer headed for the Port of Miami, from where it was shipped to the Bahamas.

Mitchem had to set up video on practice fields and a stadium that were designed for soccer and lacked creature comforts, such as a press box.

"The trip itself is a blur," Kovacs said. "But it was a great experience for our student-athletes. The exposure for ODU made everything we had to do worth it."

Only one set of post-game meals was provided by bowl officials and Eastern Michigan claimed them. Kovacs had to hastily order meals for players, coaches and staff. How he pulled that off at the last second is a miracle.

Cornier, meanwhile, spent the third and fourth quarters of the game with Scott Foreman, ODU's equipment truck driver, packing stuff back into shipping containers.

He learned who won the game when Wilder dropped by and said, "Congratulations, Danny."

Although the game was played in mid-December, it wasn't until mid-February, just before spring practice began, that the containers returned to Norfolk.

"I was so glad to see everything was still there when we opened them," Cornier said.

The Founders aren't the only people who've been with the program since the first season.

Rodney Harmon and Guy Williams have worked with the Monarchs from the start.

They are sideline communication techs who work for the University's Information Technology Department but are with the Monarchs every game, making sure that all sideline communications are working.

That includes the head sets worn by Rahne and other coaches who communicate with coaches in the press box.

"They both play very important roles," Kovacs said.

All four of the Founders say they have no intention of going elsewhere.

"I love the community in which we reside, the leadership and vision of our trajectory as an institution, and most importantly the students in which we serve," Stewart said.

Mitchem said he never envisioned that he would ever work for an FBS football team, especially at his alma mater. He says it's his dream job.

"You lose sight of how lucky we are sometimes because of how busy we are," he said. "We take it for granted sometimes.

"Really, football is secondary. It's the people, everyone from the coaches to the players to our staffs, who make this job special. I enjoy the camaraderie with all of them.

"I've met a lot of people over the last 13 years who I stay in contact with this day."

Kovacs said he loves working for Rahne and said the program is headed in the right direction.

ODU's four-game winning streak, and 5-6 record, mark a dramatic turnaround for a program that was 1-11 in 2019 and because of the pandemic, did not play in 2020.

"Ricky and his staff are taking the program back to where it was in the past," he said. "And they're doing it the right way.

"They truly have a passion for the game, for our players, and they're doing everything we need to do to make sure the program gets to where it should be."

"I truly love what I do," he added. "All of us do. This is more than just a job for us. This is our university.

"We all have a personal investment in ODU football."

An investment has reaped dividends for the Monarchs.
