five things to know

1. LAST TIME OUT

Last weekend, the Knights closed out the regular season with a sweep over Tulane and a reverse sweep over Houston while on the road. UCF extended its win-streak to 15 and posted 17 sweeps on the season. The Knights finished with a 19-1 conference record, which is the most wins in a single season they have had since joining the American. The Knights also swept the player of the week honors as McKenna Melville was named Offensive Player of the Week and Nerissa Moravec earned defensive.

2. 2021 CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS!

UCF won its fourth-straight American Athletic Conference title and fifth overall as the Knights won the regular season championship in 2018 after a perfect 18-0 record in conference play and winning The American volleyball tournament in each of the past two seasons. UCF was also the regular season conference champion in 2014, making it its fifth overall.

3. KNIGHTS OWN THE AWARDS

UCF was well represented in this year's conference awards. McKenna Melville was named the Player of the Year for the second year in a row while Amber Olson was named the Setter of the Year, becoming the first Knight to do so in the AAC. Melville, Olson, Anne-Mare Watson and Claudia Dillon were all named to the All-Conference First Team. Nerissa Moravec was garnered All-Conference Second Team for the second time in her career. And lastly, head coach Todd Dagenais was named the 2021 Coach of the Year, his fourth in the American.

4. THE BIG DANCE

This marks the Knights' fourth-straight NCAA berth and 12th in program history, including their fifth under Coach Dagenais. For the first time since 1997, UCF will not play in the state of Florida for the first round of the tournament. UCF has made it to the second round three times (1997, 2003, 2019). The Knights have faced six teams in the NCAA Tournament and had an 8-8 record.

5. THE WAVES

No. 25 Pepperdine (22-5, 14-4) earned an at-large bid to the NCAA tournament. The Waves are on a four-game winning streak and are undefeated when at neutral sites. Rachel Ahrens and Isabel Zelaya have led Pepperdine all season and both earned first team honors. Ahrens is highly ranked nationally and leads the West Coast Conference in kills per set (4.79), kills (484), and aces per set (0.50). Zelaya leads the WCC with 10.76 assists per set and 1,089 total assists and is also ranked nationally. The Knights and Waves have not seen each other since 1996.

Todd Dagenais

Head Coach - 14th Season with the Knights

Todd Dagenais was named head volleyball coach at UCF in January 2008.

Dagenais' name has become synonymous with UCF Volleyball. In 13 years at the helm of the Knights, he has guided the black and gold into the elite club of nationally-recognized collegiate programs.

Entering his 14th year in Orlando, Dagenais ranks first in program history with 253 victories.

Dagenais' tenure with the Black and Gold has been marked by a trio of trips to the NCAA tournament. In 2014, the Knights won the American Athletic Conference Championship and punched their first ticket to the NCAA Tournament since 2003. The wait for his second postseason appearance was far shorter, as the Black and Gold won the American Athletic Conference Championship for the second time after going undefeated in conference play in 2018. The third appearance was in 2019 as UCF won the inaugural American Athletic Conference Championship tournament, earning them an automatic bid into the NCAA Tournament.

Dagenais' first NCAA Tournament victory came at the expense of FSU on December 5, 2019. After defeating the Seminoles, 3-2, Dagenais secured his spot as UCF Volleyball's all-time winningest head coach, passing Lucy McDaniel for his 237th career win.

Dagenais' fourth berth into the NCAA Tournament came in the 2020-21 season after coach led the Knights to their third straight American Athletic Conference title. UCF finished the season 16-2 overall and undefeated against AAC opponents for just the second time in program history to be crowned the AAC East Division champions. The Knights went 2-0 in the AAC Championship Tournament and took down

Temple, 3-1, in the championship game to defend their title.

Dagenais has mentored some of the best players in UCF history. In the AVCA, he has guided seven players to All-America honors and 11 to All-Region laurels. Twenty-three student-athletes have garnered all-conference honors over the last 10 years under Dagenais. The 2019 campaign saw the Black and Gold go 25-8 overall and 14-2 in conference play. The Knights went on to win the inaugural American Athletic Conference Championship tournament and earn a berth to the NCAA Championship. UCF made it to the second round of the tournament for the first time under Dagenais after defeating in-state rivals Florida State 3-2.

Since arriving on campus in 2008, the Knights have been trending upward under Dagenais, finishing the last four consecutive seasons with winning records.

In his first campaign at UCF in 2008, Dagenais made his presence known and proved quickly that he has what it takes to put UCF volleyball on the national map.

Under Dagenais, the Knights posted a 15-17 overall record, its best mark since 2003, and matched its best Conference USA record, going 6-10 in the fifth-toughest volleyball conference in the nation.

UCF jumped from 244 to 113 on the NCAA Women's Volleyball RPI with Dagenais at the helm, an improvement of 131 spots and defeated five teams in C-USA that it had never previously beaten: East Carolina, Marshall, SMU, Tulsa and UTEP.

Additional firsts for the UCF volleyball program were achieved under the guidance of Dagenais, as Jenny Heppert became the first UCF volleyball player to be named an ESPN The Magazine Academic All-American® after being named to the second team in 2008, while Stephanie Serna became the first Knight to be voted onto an All-C-USA Volleyball Team, earning second team honors at the conclusion of the season. Serna would then go on to earn AVCA All-Midwest Region Honorable Mention honors. Lauren Rosenthal added to the firsts when she became the first UCF volleyball player to be named a C-USA Player of the Week, earning Setter of the Week honors on two occasions.

Dagenais also managed to bring in one of the most dominant volleyball teams in NCAA history when Stanford helped the Knights open the newly completed Venue at UCF on Sept. 2. A record 1,568 fans came to the opening match in which Dagenais and the Knights also honored the 1978 UCF volleyball squad that claimed the AIAW National Championship.
